What a year 2020 has been!

Small businesses have been greatly affected because of the Coronavirus, and we are not sure how this will affect businesses in 2021. It is being predicted that an antidote will be available in 2021, but we are not sure when this will happen or who will be given the antidote. In spite of all we have been through in 2020, we are a strong Nation, and we will survive!

We wish to thank Sisters of the Precious Blood, SOCA and all those that have assisted in helping to keep Trotwood Chamber of Commerce operational in 2020. You will never know how much we appreciated all of you for your support.

Better Business Bureau (BBB) offers the following tips to protect yourself from online shopping scams:

- Do your research before you purchase.
- Use secure websites. Look for https:// in the URL for secure transmission of your personal information, as well as a locked padlock on the purchase or shopping cart page.
- Review all company policies, including the privacy policy, terms and conditions, return policy and cancellation policy before purchasing.
- Install a firewall, anti-virus and anti-spyware software.
- Beware of rock-bottom prices.
- Keep documentation of your order. Save receipts and a copy of the confirmation page or email of your purchase until you receive your items and are satisfied.
- Stick with who you know. Consider doing online business only with retailers you trust and have shopped with before.

Online retailers provide an effective and easy way to shop, but it's important to remember not all retailers are as they appear. BBB can help consumers find trustworthy businesses. Visit www.BBB.org or call 937-222-5825 or 800-776-5301 to get lists of BBB Accredited Businesses in specific industries, business profiles on companies, as well as check out customer reviews on businesses.

American homes suffer an unwanted fire every 10 seconds, and every 60 seconds they suffer a fire serious enough to call the fire department. Most importantly, every three hours someone is killed in a home fire—that's more than 2,600 people in 2006 alone. Another 13,000 people are injured in home fires in a typical year.

Protecting your family from fire requires advance planning for what to do if fire strikes. This includes the use of protective devices, usually smoke alarms, to provide early warning of fire, especially at night when they are most vulnerable. However, depending on the size and layout of your home and the characteristics of your family, you may need to do more to assure their safety.

The Dangers of House Fires Most home fires occur in the kitchen while cooking and are the leading cause of injuries from fire. However, they are often extinguished with only minor damage since a person is generally present. Common causes of fires at night are carelessly discarded cigarettes, sparks from fireplaces without spark screens or glass doors, and heating appliances left too close to furniture or other combustibles. These fires can be particularly dangerous because they may smolder for a long period of time before being discovered by sleeping residents.

Fire Safety

- Smoke is dangerous – get low to avoid smoke
- Tackle the fire if you are trained to do so
- Evacuate your place if the fire gets out of control
- Don't stop to collect your personal belongings
- If you catch fire, drop and roll on the floor, or cover with a blanket
 - Inform the authorities at the site

A diagram illustrating the components of Integrated Health Care. It features a central blue circle with a white heart and a pulse line. Surrounding this central circle are seven smaller blue circles, each containing a white icon and a label: "Dental" (toothbrush), "Vision" (eye), "Pharmacy" (pill bottle), "Disability" (crossed wrench and screwdriver), "Behavioral health" (head with brain), "Life" (family of three), and "Supplemental health" (heart with plus sign). Lines connect these outer circles to the central circle, forming a ring.
